- LEA advisers and consultants

What the course covers

Through a series of practical activities and reviews, the course introduces and elaborates upon a model of learning, that can be used to both design creative learning opportunities, and make explicit the thinking and learning aptitudes being developed.

- Help to demystify thinking & learning skills and show you how they can add value to any subject area
- Demonstrate how active learning and dialogue are vital to effective learning
- Explain the principles of Hands-on Thinking and Learning
- Equip you with practical strategies that you can use straight away
- Allow you time for deep reflection on how to incorporate the strategies into your teaching

Hands-on Thinking and Learning will:

- Give you confidence in your own creative capacity
- Allow you to harness your students' creativity and enable them to become more effective learners.
- Provide you with a range of practical and effective strategies for teaching Hands-on Thinking and Learning skills across the full spectrum of subjects and ages
