

Need a big white space on which to brainstorm, storyboard or plan?

Fitting out a modern training or conference room?

Want to get people in your offices thinking creatively together?

With a Thinking Wall, your creativity need not be constrained by space! It's an innovative modular system that can be used to maximise the working area you have available.

Exclusive to Logovisual, Thinking Walls offer a modern, slick and professional solution for working spaces of all kinds. They enable people to articulate and share their thinking visually without the usual constraints of standard whiteboards that are typically limited to a few set sizes with dated, clunky frames.
